INTRODUCTION

Are you one of the millions of people who read your horoscope every day in the daily newspaper? I am often amazed at how many people who have little interest in the esoteric disciplines such as astrology, numerology or palmistry who still make the reading of their horoscope a daily habit. I have yet to meet anyone over the age of 12 who doesn't know their sign of the zodiac, as well as the major characteristics that are associated with their sign.

A recent Gallup poll indicated that 28% of the American public believe in astrology, and that a whopping 74% read their horoscopes daily. And yet, few of these people would be able to tell you how the ancient art of astrology started, or even how it works.

Put simply, astrology is an ancient system that examines the positions of the sun, the moon and the planets in order to offer us a better understanding of ourselves, and provides us with a guide to potential opportunities and challenges.

Skeptics of astrology often claim that it is an extremely inexact science, based on an archaic understanding of the universe around us. Their argument is usually summed up in the following question: "How can someone base important life decisions on a system that was developed 5,000 years ago and fails to take into account the discovery of new planets and scientific discoveries?" These are usually the same critics who will point out that distant planets have little or no gravitational effect on us, so "how could the position of the planets cause us to think or act in a certain way?"

I can sympathize with these critics, because I, too, was once wary of astrology. But as I learned more about the subject, I discovered that many of the skeptical arguments about astrology were based on a lack of knowledge rather than an informed understanding. As an example, let's address the above arguments with the following fact:

Astrologers rarely claim that the movements of planets cause us to think or act in any way whatsoever.

As one early astrological reference (Genesis 1-14) puts it, "The stars are for signs and seasons." Signs are very different than something as tangible as cause and effect. The astrological interpretation of the stars above provide us with information about potential and probability... we supply the will and the action.

But what about the discovery of new planets – doesn't that invalidate the ancient art of astrology? The best way to look at this is to consider the following scenario. If you were starting out in New York City, and traveling to Los Angeles, you would certainly want to take a map with you as you made your way West. Would it make any difference if along the way you discovered that a couple of new towns had been built since your map had been published? No, because it wouldn't have any effect on the direction you were traveling in, or your desired destination.

"Oh," the skeptic might say, "Now you're going to tell me that we are predestined to follow a certain route and we have no choice as to where we will wind up."

Absolutely not – as I said above, we supply the will and the action. If you don't like your scheduled destination, or the way you travel to get there, you certainly have many choices under your control. Following the scenario described above, you could always take the back roads if you don't like the highway. If you don't want to go to Los Angeles, go someplace else.

You are ultimately responsible for your thoughts, your actions and your goals. It's up to you whether you take advantage of the maps that are available to help you get to where you want to go. There is an old saying among astrologers: "A wise man consults the stars, a fool is ruled by them."

HISTORY OF ASTROLOGY

Every culture has at one time or another looked to nature for clues to the mystery that is our existence. It is no wonder then, that our ancestors turned their gaze upwards and searched for answers from the night skies and the celestial bodies that move through them.

Some scholars place the origins of astrology as far back in time as 50,000 years ago, when Cro-Magnon shamans observed the recurring patterns of the stars and placed notches on bones to mark the passing seasons. Perhaps the earliest evidence of the structured study of the stars was found in a cave in the southwest of France, where a plaque covered with an early moon chart was discovered. The age of this plaque has been estimated to be 30,000 years old.

More recently, in relative terms is the arrangement of stone megaliths at Stonehenge. These stones are thought to have been erected 4,000 years ago by the Druids, and used to chart the progressions of the moon and the sun. A lesser known site can be found on the North American continent in Poverty Point, Louisiana. This location is the site of man-made ridges arranged in the shape of six concentric octagons, and has been identified as being constructed by Native Americans over 3,000 years ago.

Like the structure at Stonehenge, scientific study has shown that there are precise correspondences between the movement of celestial bodies and the geometry of the Louisiana structure. Similar structures as well as huge stone calendar wheels have been found and attributed to the Mayan, Incan and Aztec cultures in Mexico and South America.

Although these discoveries are fascinating to speculate about, there is nothing concrete to prove that these cultures practiced the art of astrology as we know it today. For that we must look at the developments that were recorded as far back as 7,000 years ago in what was then known as Mesopotamia.

The Sumerians were the first to develop astrological charts, and it is believed that early uses of these charts were mainly agricultural in nature. Chaldean priests are believed to have climbed 300' towers, known as 'ziggurats', to study and systematize the heavens. From Sumeria astrology spread throughout the Middle East, and by 2400 BC many royal courts had court astrologers.

The Babylonians are credited with the idea of dividing the night sky into twelve sections, patterned after what they thought was the path of the sun around the earth. Early astrology was used to analyze the effects of the stars and planets on populations in general, but by 419 BC these principles were used to chart the lives of individuals.

The ancient science took another step forward in 331 BC when Alexander the Great brought astrology back to Greece from his conquest of the Middle East. Alexander is also credited with bringing astrology to India, where it was combined with the advanced astronomical knowledge that had been developed there.

It is from the Greeks that we get the word "astrology"; (astron or "star"; + logos or "discourse"). We also get the word 'zodiac' from the Greeks, which means literally, 'circus of animals.' The Greeks developed an extended set of charts that tracked the movement of the planets for every day of the week. From this point they could create a horoscope (from the Greek hora or "hour" + skopos or "viewing instrument") based on the hour and location of a person's birth.

From Greece the study of the stars moved to Rome in about 100 BC. Interestingly enough, it took a while for astrology to catch on in Rome due to the official influence of soothsayers (known as Augers) who based their wisdom on the movements of birds.

The development of astrology came to a halt with the end of Rome's influence in the Western world, and it wasn't until 765 AD that a manuscript by Ptolemy was discovered in a Persian monastery that the serious study of astrology was resumed. This time it was the Arab world that became fascinated with the subject and spread astrology throughout the Western world during the thirteenth century as a result of the Moorish conquests.

It is interesting to note that unlike other occult systems of divination, the Christian church accepted astrology as a valid approach. It was believed at the time that this validation came from the Book of Genesis, where it is written “Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven ... and let them be for signs”. It is also believed that the Three Wise Men were in fact astrologers who were led to the Nativity by the Star of Bethlehem. Perhaps the biggest sign of acceptance by the Church is the fact that several popes used astrologers for guidance.

No history of astrology would be complete with mentioning the most famous soothsayer of all time, Nostradamus. He was greatly influenced by writings of Iamblichus, a fourth-century Greek astrologer, and went on to publish “The Centuries” in 1555, claiming that it was based on wisdom given to him by “the Divine Essence [through] astronomical revelations”.

Astrology's popularity took a dive in the sixteenth century when Copernicus and Galileo proved that the universe doesn't revolve around the earth, but rather we revolve around the sun. Although the Church didn't recognize this theory until 1822, the practice of astrology was banned by the end of the 1500 for other reasons.

Another strike against astrology came in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries with the discovery of the planets Uranus and Neptune. It was clear that the system of astrology had been based on incomplete information, and it took several years for astrologers to factor the additional planets into their calculations.

Astrology became popular once again during the nineteenth century, and by the time Ronald and Nancy Reagan's names were linked with astrology in the 1980s, several White House Administrations had enjoyed astrological consultations, including President John Tyler, First Lady Mary Todd Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson, and Warren G. Harding.

Although it is widely known that during World War II Hitler and his staff were ardent believers in astrology, it is a lesser-known fact that the Allies used astrologers to interpret Hitler's horoscopes, in the hope that they would be better able to predict his moods and moves. Both governments used astrology in their propaganda wars: German airplanes dropped leaflets containing the writings of Nostradamus over the French countryside prior to the invasion of that country, and the British distributed copies of astrology magazines predicting the fall of the Third Reich throughout Germany.

45,46 Hollywood was no exception when it came to the popularity of astrology. Stars who consulted the stars have included Marlene Dietrich, Tyrone Power, Jackie Gleason, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Steve McQueen and Faye Dunaway.

In 1949, two French psychologists began a series of tests to disprove the principles of astrology. What Michel and Françoise Gauquelin discovered, however, was that there did indeed appear to be a scientific basis to the ancient art. The Gauquelins began their study by testing 576 French physicians at his “Laboratory of Study on the Relations between Cosmic Rhythms and Psychophysiology”.

The initial results were fascinating: it was discovered that many of the physicians were born within the rise and culmination of Mars, Jupiter and Saturn – more than could be explained away as coincidence. Further tests revealed that a large percentage of winning athletes were born after the rise and culmination of Mars, a phenomena that became known as the “Mars Effect.” As Gauquelin continued to study other professions, it was discovered that the Mars Effect could be observed in many fields where people had the opportunity to become super-achievers.

Gauquelin and his colleagues went on to study over 100,000 birth records of test subjects, and compiled results that not only have stood up to scientific scrutiny, but have been successfully duplicated by fellow scientists.

Astrology continues to be widely popular today. A recent Gallup poll indicated that 28% of the American public believe in astrology, and that a whopping 74% read their horoscopes daily. With these kinds of numbers, it is not surprising that the United States is home to almost 200,000 full- and part-time astrologers.

THE BASICS OF ASTROLOGY

Your astrological chart is actually a map of the sky at the time you arrived on this planet. In this map, each planet has its own meaning. As you might imagine, each of us has every planet in our chart, but the arrangement is very different, hence our different personalities and abilities.

Astrologers chart the angles between each of the planets and interpret the angles as either harmonious or difficult. Harmonious angles allow for the natural and easy expression of energies, while difficult angles generate stress and friction. Your chart most likely has a mixture of easy and difficult aspects, which is why you some things come to you naturally, but others take a great deal of effort. As an example, you might be somewhat “sports-challenged”, but have a brother or sister who is an athletic wonder. As frustrating as this may be, take comfort in the fact that he or she is likely to have an equal amount of difficulty with something that you can do with ease.

There are twelve houses in the astrological chart and a trained astrologer will position all the planets in these. Each of the houses represents a different aspect of your life. The first house, for example, represents your ego and self-esteem. House two will represent your earning ability. When you have a planet in your second house that is in a difficult relationship to another planet, you may find that you will occasionally have trouble with your finances.

You are probably getting the idea that it is a complex job to understand all the different aspects of a chart, and it's true to a certain extent. If you find that after you've learned all you can from this book you may find that you want to have a professional astrologer draw your chart. The good news is that there are plenty of qualified astrologers available as close as your computer, if you are connected to the Internet.

The following sections are a good place to get started in your astrological education, and should provide you with much of the information you would find in a professionally prepared astrology chart.

The 12 Sun Signs

When someone tells you that they are a Pisces, they are referring to their Sun Sign – the location of the sun within the zodiac system at the hour of their birth. The Ascendant

Sometimes called The Rising Sign, the Ascendant is just as important as the sun sign. Your Ascendant reveals your basic character and personality as well as your natural abilities, the way in which you express yourself and how you appear to others. The Ascendant is the sign that is coming over the horizon at the moment you are born. If you know the approximate time of your birth it is easy to identify your Ascendant, since it changes every two hours.

If you were born between 4 am and 6 am, your ascendant sign is the same as your Sun sign. For example, if you are a Virgo, and you were born at between 4 am and 6 am, you would have a Virgo ascendant. As you your birth time progresses around the clock in two-hour steps, the ascendant sign is the one immediately after your Sun sign in the list of the twelve signs below. To continue with our Virgo example, a Virgo born between 6 and 8 am would have a Libra ascendant.

ARIES ● TAURUS ● GEMINI ● CANCER ● LEO ● VIRGO
LIBRA ● SCORPIO ● SAGITTARIUS ● CAPRICORN ● AQUARIUS ● PISCES

Planetary Influences

In addition to the Sun sign and the Ascendant, a professional astrologer will chart the rest of the planets in your chart as well as the relationship they have to each other. Known as “aspects”, these change as you go through life. If you are serious about studying astrology, you may at some point want to memorize the planets and their meanings. One way is to make an anagram, using the first letter of each planet in order, and then making up a memorable sentence using the letters of the anagram. Here’s a popular one: “My Very Elegant Mother Just Served Us Nine Pizzas”.

(Moon, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto.)

Here’s a quick list of the key characteristics of each planet:

SUN - your personality
MOON - how you express yourself
MERCURY – how you think
VENUS – how you feel
MARS – your personal energy and drive
JUPITER – your expansion and optimism
SATURN – your restrictions and limitations
URANUS – your inventiveness and originality
NEPTUNE – your imagination
PLUTO - group activity
ASCENDANT – your temperament and appearance

The Twelve Houses

Your horoscope is divided into twelve sections known as “houses.” Each house represents a different aspect of your life. The first six houses represent the personal side of your life, and the last six houses deal with the public side.

1st House: Self-awareness, personal experiences, energy, life force, health, vitality, will power.

2nd House: Material resources, possessions, earning and spending capacity, social and family responsibility.

3rd House: Perception, logic, judgment, practical thinking, short trips, communication, everyday affairs, brothers and sisters.

4th House: Domestic scene, unconscious mind, emotional environment, a parent, property, endings.

5th House: Creative expression, performing arts, self-expression, social popularity, sports, children, speculations, romance.

6th House: Hard work, health, diet, personal appearance, self-improvement, unconscious mind, service, pets.

7th House: Personal relationships, love, mutual harmony, marriage, legal affairs, contracts, karma, partnerships, public relations, enemies.

8th House: Personal property, insurance, difficult problems, taxes, partner's earnings, inheritance.

9th House: Community action, social conscience, science, religion, philosophy, long trips, in-laws.

10th House: Self-esteem, reputation, professional reputation, authority, a parent, honor, ambition, desire for power, self-discipline, patience.

11th House: Loyalty, humanitarian endeavors, fulfillment, goals, friends, hopes and wishes, career, love received.

12th House: Psychological health, wisdom, understanding, mystical inspiration, clairvoyance, latent talent, limitations, hidden strength, subconscious mind.

Cusps

Someone is said to have been born on a cusp when their birth date occurs on or near the juncture of two signs, specifically anywhere from the last day of a sign to the first seven days of the next sign. If you are born on a cusp, you will possess a mixture of the attributes and characteristics of both signs. The degree to which you possess qualities of the previous sign is determined by where in the eight-day range you were born – the further from the previous sign, the less the influence that sign will exhibit.

The Day of the Week You Were Born

According to traditional astrologers, if you know the day of the week you were born, you have some additional insight into your strengths and abilities. This additional information is based on the planetary influences:

BORN ON	PLANETARY INFLUENCE	ATTRIBUTE
Sunday	Sun	Leadership abilities
Monday	Moon	Creative imagination
Tuesday	Mars	Bravery and determination
Wednesday	Mercury	Intellectual & communication skills
Thursday	Jupiter	Destined for fame
Friday	Venus	Fortunate in love
Saturday	Saturn	Skill in handling difficult situations

YOUR SIGN EXPLAINED

ARIES

Birth Stones: Diamond, Ruby, Jasper (red)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN MARCH 21 AND APRIL 19...

You were born under the sign of Aries, a Fire sign. This indicates that you prefer intellectual to physical pursuits. The fiery sign under which you were born causes many of your impulsive actions. Your impulses often lead you into many errors, but you have a wonderful faculty of getting out of difficulties.

You are enterprising, capricious, high-minded, charitable and have a strong will; somewhat versatile and fit for various lines of work. In childhood or youth, either the parents or other members of your family may have placed some obstacles in the way of your advancement. High positions, however, will be attained, and wealth, in the form of houses or land, will come, perhaps through inheritance. You are well suited to a business or profession requiring much thought and contemplation in its operations. You are not fond of manual labor of any kind, but rather seek to direct the energies of others. Your fixed characteristics are that you like to lead, but you do not like to be dictated to.

You are a good talker, bright, active, witty and a good student. You seem to know things without being told. You love to be in a free atmosphere and everything must harmonize with your surroundings. You are sometimes too sensitive and allow yourself to be affected too much by your emotions.

Your memory is retentive, and you are inclined to hold enmity longer than you should. You should avoid being impulsive or headstrong. You are firm in your convictions and adhere to them. You would make an excellent leader and will hold many strong friendships.

You reserve your sweetness for your family and most intimate friends. To strangers and outsiders you have an undemonstrative appearance, which makes people think you are unfeeling on account of your cool demeanor. This sometimes makes people misunderstand you, and though you have tried to overcome it, you may not have been very successful. You have good taste in dress and like to make a good appearance. You seem to be faithful and devoted to home life and to your friends; you are very industrious and seldom waste much time on persons and matters that would not in some way prove useful to you.

TAURUS

Birth Stones: Emerald, lapis lazuli (green)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN APRIL 20 AND MAY 20 ...

You were born under the sign of Taurus. Astrology teaches that persons born under this sign are capable of leading in large enterprises, or as managers of some special manufacturing department. Your governing planet is the fascinating Venus, the Goddess of Love. This planet ought to give you the power and quality that makes friends, holds customers in business, and makes home life harmonious and satisfactory. But on account of the influence Venus exerts over you, you may have suffered from disappointment, caused by misplaced confidence in others. Your loving nature is your greatest weakness and because you are emotional and impressive you frequently mistake a show of affection on the part of others for genuine friendship. You are too honest to live in this world of deceit. You were fortunate in being brought into the world under the strong sign of Taurus because it has given to your character great determination, far-reaching abilities and a shrewd keenness that very few are possessed of. You are fearless and kind and good, but are too sensitive and apt to be jealous of others who outshine you in dress and station.

You, however, take things too much to heart and are apt to worry about things that will never bother you. You worry about the future and could not bear to be dependent upon others for help or support. You are not anxious to make money, but just wish to be comfortably situated and enjoy the good things of life. You are not sufficiently careful in choosing your friends and are likely to find a good deal of deceit and treachery among those who profess to care a good deal for you, either men or women. Your emotions govern you to a great extent, and you are particularly susceptible to sensations and the effect of connections with the opposite sex. You have a powerful memory and would make a good public speaker. Your luckiest days are Tuesday and Thursday, except when they fall on the 13th of the month. Your lucky stone is the Emerald, meaning success in love.

When possible it is well for a person to know whom they should marry for the greatest happiness. You should be married to a person born under a sign harmonious to your own celestial influences, to make a happy union. You are a persuasive talker, courteous and affable, but you can be very sarcastic and cruel, and get very angry when things do not go as you wish. You should overcome this, be kind and gentle, or you will not be loved as you should be.

You possess refined tastes and are inclined to be a neat dresser, modest, dignified and fond of the good things of this world. You should read a great deal and acquire all the knowledge you can. You are a person who can do almost anything that you attempt. You like to be busy and perfect order is your method, but you do not seem to have the confidence in yourself that you should have. Have confidence; this should be your strongest point, and do not put off till tomorrow what you should do today.

Take advantage of your lucky periods, cultivate your talents, and make life what you wish it to be. There is much in store for you.

GEMINI

Birth Stones: Citrine, quartz (yellow)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN MAY 21 AND JUNE 20...

You were born in the sign of Gemini. This is the sign of the business dreamer. This indicates that you have an extreme nature, ever planning for future returns and always active in the affairs of the world. Your governing planet is Mercury, the last planet formed in our Solar System, the life-giver, indicating vitality, temper, impulsiveness, expression, speech and sensitiveness. In this sign there is very much that you will have to overcome before your life will be really happy. Often the greatest success and the greatest failures are born in this sign.

Your inclination leads you to engage in large affairs and this has often made you take part in undertakings that were beyond your capacity. Among your associates you are a natural leader, and with energy you take everything in hand that is brought to your notice. It is not a difficult matter for you to acquire knowledge on a diversified number of subjects. You insist upon others carrying out your plans. You do not make any mistakes when you go by your own impressions, but you will find, if controlled by those around you, that you will make mistakes. You are very busy and generally in the habit of keeping your business and secrets to yourself. You are far-sighted, neat and orderly, careful in money matters, but never stingy.

Domestic habits are not to your liking, as you prefer to be out in the broad domain of life taking an active part in the affairs of the world.

Your imagination is very vivid. If you were to tell your imaginations you would scare some people. You will overcome great obstacles and experience many ups and downs in life. You speak rather too plainly to suit some people, but the truth will never hurt anyone. You have good social and business ideas, but it seems luck has not always been with you; often something occurs to upset your plans. To overcome this, you should develop your secret powers, which can be done inside of a month.

CANCER

Birth Stones: White coral, moonstone, pearl (white)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN JUNE 21 AND JULY 22...

You were born under the sign of Cancer. You are proud, independent, conservative, inclined to be artistic and desirous of high positions, and unless you are at the head of every undertaking, you soon lose interest in it. You are very determined and positive in the execution of your plans. You have considerable mental ability, and are a good reasoner and observer. You evince a good degree of self-respect, dignity and aspiration, but are not overbearing or greedy of power, are disposed to listen to advice, though you may seldom follow it. While you will make friends in the future and have a wide field of social influence, you will suffer from unworthiness of those to whom you have become attached and who will cause trouble and sorrow.

This is the most brilliant and the most depressed sign of the Zodiac. When jolly, people born under the influence of the sign of Cancer are very jolly; when miserable, they are more miserable than all the others put together, and can usually give no adequate reason for that wretchedness.

You are a natural planner, practical, broad and tolerant in your views. You are very particular about appearances. You can amass a large wealth if you will be temperate in all you do. You should concentrate your forces on one undertaking and make its success the object of your life. The very successful in this sign are those who made a study of themselves to find their weakest points and work to strengthen them.

At times you are liable to become blue and depressed. You have wonderful hypnotic powers. Don't help others too much. You must control yourself with an iron will. There is scarcely any limit to your wonderful powers, but you must develop those powers before you can reach the high degree of success which you can attain and which belongs to your sign.

LEO

Birth Stones: Sardonyx, peridot, tiger's eye, gold quartz (gold or orange)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN JULY 23 AND AUGUST 22...

Leo is your sign and the Sun is your ruling planet. This shows that you were born under a fiery sign and represents the heart of all things. You can readily adapt yourself to almost any condition of life. You have a great deal of internal courage and determination and are very energetic and aspiring. You are conservative and generous and desire justice with all whom you have any dealings. You are naturally happy and would rather bear trouble than fight it. You will be old when you are young in years and young when you are old. You are greatly affected by the mental and physical conditions when you stand intimately related to them. You have great judgment and bravery, strong in passions, and very severe when aroused. You should guard against blows in the abdomen, and sprained ankles. You will grow stout in body, but must take good care of your eyes. Your temperament is naturally happy.

In disposition you are gentle and even-tempered and are liable to imitate the life and habits of those you come in contact with. You should guard against a too impulsive love-nature, for you are liable to be influenced and sometimes misled by the one you love.

Much depends on your being harmoniously married. This is true of everyone, but especially true of you. Should you be compelled to go through life mated to a person born under an inharmonious sign you would pass a miserable existence. I believe it is the duty of every person to learn early the harmonious and antagonistic signs so clearly and plainly revealed by the Star. Though you possess ability, you do not always act upon your ideas. You seem to lack the power of application, which you should strive to overcome before you can become successful.

You are a person of more than the average ability, and would become very successful in certain investments and business transactions. Take advantage and make the best of opportunities soon to come to you.

VIRGO

Birth Stones: Jasper, sardonyx, chrysolite (green)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN AUGUST 23 AND SEPTEMBER 22...

At the time of your birth the Sun was situated in the sign of Virgo, which is ruled by Mercury. This indicates that your sense of feeling is very acute. You cannot bear the least pain or hurt. As to health, take care of indigestion. Worry, anxiety or disharmony will disturb your digestive forces at once. No medicine is needed, only quiet harmony and rest. In keeping secrets you cannot be excelled. You have excellent taste in dress, can read a person's character well, and are inclined to be exclusive.

Persons born under those circumstances generally have a great deal of responsibility and have to sacrifice a good deal of their time for others. Cultivate your own individuality, but be careful not to overdo matters. If you do not cultivate the better part of your nature you are liable to become boastful and selfish. This will cause you a great deal of misfortune.

You are orderly and systematic and require a place for everything. You possess acute penetration and tenacity of purpose and when you once make up your mind it is hard to stir you. You are tactful and courteous and adapt yourself to those with whom you come in contact. You don't have a violent temper, but you will resent any interference in your affairs. You are not a person who will complain disagreeably if things do not go your way. You are in some sense conceited and you are a trifle lacking in self-confidence. You are very frank in the expression of your opinion, but you do not give it unsolicited. There is a great deal of pride and independence shown, yet you are not a misanthrope. Your manner is at least cordial. You dislike sentimentality, and you do not show what you feel. You are very free in the expenditure of money, and yet you do not get extravagant ideas. You should never go in debt for the sake of appearance or personal desires.

You can be relied on to fill acceptable places of trust. You would make an excellent bookkeeper or cashier. Your chances are best and most favorable in love. You are naturally generous and want to help others, and are often deceived through too much faith in your friends, which should be guarded against.

Your greatest faults are worry, anxiety, fretting and impatience. Your ailment and disease can be effectually cured and forever cast out by realizing that it is all a mistake to let the mind dwell so long on any one thing.

It is the duty of every person to learn very early the harmonious and antagonistic signs so plainly and clearly revealed by the Stars and Palm. There is much of importance indicated in your life that you should know about at once, but my space is too limited in this short sketch to go into detail.

LIBRA

Birth Stones: Opal, tourmaline, aventurine (pink)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN SEPTEMBER 23 AND OCTOBER 22...

You were born in Libra, which is ruled by Venus. This indicates that you are naturally persistent and competent and can, through these qualities, win success. Your foresight and judgment are excellent and you would succeed in business for yourself.

You have good ability and education, and while results have been fair in some things, they have not been what they should. Be self-reliant and you will succeed when you rely upon your own abilities. Don't worry over losses, troubles or obstacles. The moment you do you are in danger.

You are warm-hearted and generous and are capable and unyielding. You have a splendid memory and are noted for your exactness and persistency in your mental efforts. You have much patience and will wait for a long time for your hopes and ambitions. When not irritated, you are controlled somewhat by your emotions, but when angry will often say the first thing that comes into your mind with utter disregard of consequences, and for this reason are often called unfeeling and cruel. You have excellent reasoning faculties and should suppress the inclination and good endurance to follow the promptings or impulses, but you will never allow yourself to be trampled on by others. You have quite a strong constitution and good endurance, but are liable to disease through your excessive activity in all the departments. When pain begins to be felt across the small of the back, sexual activity should be restrained and quiet and rest secured, with plenty of wholesome food as your fitting medicine. You love flattery, but you should flatter others more than you do - it is the secret of your success. You are also very loving, affectionate and amorous when the moon is in your sign.

At times you are very persistent, determined, and can be diplomatic if you think it is required to accomplish your end. In this determination you usually succeed, and would always be sure to, if you have sufficient confidence and the proper foreknowledge of how to proceed in your undertakings.

SCORPIO

Birth Stones: Garnet, Beryl, topaz (deep red)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN OCTOBER 23 AND NOVEMBER 22...

Scorpio is your birth sign. It is a peculiar fact that most persons who are born under this ruling go to one extreme or the other in intellectual development. They need to decide upon a definite plan of work. In money matters you can amass large wealth by steady and persistent efforts in one line.

You are capable of making great attainment in whatever you may undertake. You are the possessor of great executive ability, and you feel that you are perfectly competent to lead and dictate. You do not willingly submit to others, and before undertaking any enterprise you are in the habit of studying the whole situation. In this way you will make discoveries which escape the observation of others and which will place you in an exceedingly prosperous circumstance later in life.

You have great rallying power and it is hard to keep you down in a low grade or condition of life. It makes no difference how circumstances may crowd you, your quick, observing and discriminating mind will always lift you up. You have a strong will and are more easily coaxed than driven, and cannot be made to do that which you have set your mind against. You are somewhat sensitive in disposition and would feel keenly surrounding social conditions and there would be considerable anxiety in reference to the home or as to married life.

You are very dangerous in jealousy, and when once suspicion is aroused you are liable to act imprudently. On this account you should be very careful not to give way to the impulse of jealousy, and above all, should discipline your mind not to yield to the frenzy of suspicion. Again, in all departments of life you should be friendly and considerate.

There would be no happiness or contentment for you without marriage. A complete understanding between yourself and your affinity is essential to your future happiness. You are surrounded by friends, but only a few of the many who claim friendship will prove themselves worthy.

SAGITTARIUS

Birth Stones: Turquoise, topaz, and zircon (sky blue)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN NOVEMBER 23 AND DECEMBER 20...

Sagittarius is your sign, and Mars and Jupiter your ruling planets. This is a double-bodied and fiery sign, showing you have a changeable nature. You are very active in mind and body and are quick-spoken. You are a person of one thought and one idea at a time. You are bold, fearless and determined in all your undertakings. You are a person of action rather than words, and are too apt to decide important matters without giving them due consideration. You are inclined to romantic views, and love everything that is open and free. You are impulsive, generous and sincere, but far too quick at times for your own good. You have a strong inclination to travel and see the country. You are approachable and companionable and are hard to get acquainted with. You are inclined to take the opposite side of everything in an argument.

In disposition you are high-tempered and courageous and will not stand for anyone hurting your feelings. You are kind-hearted and sincere in love matters. You are inclined to indigestion and liable to accidents of the hands, fingers and shins.

Your nature is somewhat hidden, but you are very apt to soar in thought and mingle with the ideal and visionary. You have great power to attract people to you, and if your secret powers were developed you would make a grand success in life.

You are not exactly happy and contented, and your surroundings could be better. You are likely to worry too much and imagine that matters are much worse than they are.

CAPRICORN

Birth Stones: Smokey quartz, obsidian and jet (black and brown)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN DECEMBER 21 AND JANUARY 19...

You were born under the sign of Capricorn. You are proud, independent, conservative, inclined to be aristocratic and desirous of high position, and unless you are at the head of every undertaking you soon lose interest in it. You are very determined and positive in the execution of your plans. You have considerable mental ability, are a good reasoner and observer. You evince a good degree of self-respect, dignity and aspiration, but are not overbearing or greedy of power. You are disposed to listen to advice though you may seldom follow it. While you will make friends in the future and have a wide field of social influence, you will suffer from unworthiness of those to whom you become attached and who will cause you trouble and sorrow.

You are a natural planner, practical, broad and tolerant in your views. You can be very particular about your appearance. You can amass large wealth if you will be temperate in all you do. You should concentrate your forces on one undertaking and make its success the object of your life. The very successful in this sign are those who make a study of themselves to find their weakest points and work to strengthen them.

You would make a good bookkeeper; you are very orderly; you would also do well in an office where transactions of heavy importance are common, such as banking, stock exchange, real estate or large wholesale houses. However, it would be foolish for you to engage in any work in which you cannot willingly put your whole heart and soul. Act as you think best and don't permit anyone to run your affairs.

At times you are liable to become blue and depressed. You have wonderful hypnotic powers. Don't help others too much. You must control yourself with an iron will. There is scarcely any limit to your wonderful powers, but you must develop those powers before you can reach the high degree of success that you can attain, and which belongs to your sign.

Your lucky day is in the latter part of the week. You should learn your fortunate days so that you may take advantage of them.

AQUARIUS

Birth Stones: amethyst (violet)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN JANUARY 20 AND FEBRUARY 19...

You were born under the sign of Aquarius, which is ruled by Uranus. This indicates that you are self-reliant. You have days of great happiness and days of great misery. Uranus gives an uneasy mind, hard to please, hard to satisfy and keep calm. To avoid this, understand that you are possessed of unusual powers. But if you are blue and depressed, you cannot use those powers.

There is about you considerable reticence and you are thoughtful, persevering and receptive. You are not easily discouraged, but there are times when you are greatly depressed. You have strong likes and dislikes, and are generally very sincere and honest. You are of an inquisitive mind and are very fond of study, and in your travels you acquire much calculable information which comes handy for you to use at times. Your nature is somewhat hidden, but you are very apt to soar in thought and mingle with the ideal and visionary. You have great power to attract things, as well as the desire to hold on to and get the good of them.

This sign always brings about severe struggles, also illness from overwork or by too great indulgence in good living. You will never be rich, but you will in latter part of your life be placed in good financial circumstances.

PISCES

Birth Stones: Aquamarine, amethyst (purple and blue-green)

IF YOU WERE BORN BETWEEN FEBRUARY 20 AND MARCH 20...

Pisces is your sign and Jupiter your ruling planet. You are inclined to be positive and active and are very difficult to please. You have a clean, logical mind and are inclined to the natural sciences. If you possess the necessary educational qualifications you would be well adapted to the medical profession. You have a tendency to agriculture and fine intuitions relative to the raising of children, domestic animals, etc. This polarity also imparts a strong desire to study and investigate everything relating to the unseen forces of the universe and increase your secretiveness and gives a restless activity to the mind. You are a very active person in mind and body. You lack self-confidence in many of your undertakings. You are capable and efficient and need to be pushed forward.

In disposition you have a warm and sympathetic nature, affable and free, though somewhat quiet in manner. You are not ardent in love affairs but would be faithful to the marriage vow.

Your lucky day comes in the first part of the week. You should always commence anything on your lucky day if you wish to succeed.

You possess talent and ability above the average, but owing to existing influences and lack of money at the proper time your talents have been repressed. You have tried to place yourself in a better position and striven to overcome these circumstances to only meet with failure. Start all of your important undertakings on Wednesday for your greatest success.

YOUR PERSONAL STARGUIDE

A Step-By-Step Guide to Creating Your Own Daily Horoscope

Introduction

Like most people, you are probably familiar with your Sun sign, but you may not know much about the other planets that have an important influence in your life. This guide you will allow you to work out the position and meaning of all nine planets for any day between now and the start of 2020.

Although this method is not as detailed as a fully developed astrological chart, it will show you future trends, and it will be at least as accurate as the horoscope you will find in your daily newspaper.

How To Use Your Starguide

Below you will find a circular chart. The numbers 1 through 12 on the chart represent the twelve houses of the Zodiac through which the planets pass during their orbit around the Sun. To prepare your Personal Starguide, write your Sun sign in House number 1, and then go around the chart entering the other signs in the following order: Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces.

For instance, if you were a Leo, you would write Leo in the 1st house, Virgo in the 2nd, Libra in the 3rd and so on, ending up with Cancer in the 12th house.

The next step is to look up the Sun in the Tables of Planetary Positions for the date that you want to write a horoscope for. For instance, September 29th shows the Sun to be in Libra. Check the chart you have just completed to see what house Libra is in, and then read the description in the section on the Sun in that particular house. For example, if you were an Aries, you would read the Sun in 7th House.

For your convenience, there is a worksheet on the page following the chart. Feel free to make photocopies of the worksheet for each daily reading you want to create.

SATURN IN FIRST HOUSE. This arrangement of Saturn occurs only once every twenty-nine and a half years, and represents an important point in your life. Uncertainty will abound, and significant challenges will seem to appear out of nowhere. Take them one at a time, and you should be able to arrive at the decisions necessary to handle them all.

SATURN IN SECOND HOUSE. Although caution in financial areas is usually a good thing, total inaction can actually result in lost opportunities and income. Progress in this realm will be slow, and at times it may appear non-existent.

SATURN IN THIRD HOUSE. Your intellectual abilities will be the subject of focus during this period, and you will experience significant growth on many levels as a result.

SATURN IN FOURTH HOUSE. This is a time when things seem to move at a crawl, which may result in a good deal of frustration if you aren’t aware of Saturn’s influence. Patience and understanding will serve you well until you move out of this cycle.

SATURN IN FIFTH HOUSE. Regular levels of social activity will experience a decrease during this period, and it may become necessary to place special emphasis on maintaining contact with the outside world. Remember that quiet times can be used for both reflection and planning.

SATURN IN SIXTH HOUSE. A lack of apparent progress at work will make for long and boring days, leading you to consider other job offers. Be sure to examine them all carefully, and avoid moving just for the sake of change.

SATURN IN SEVENTH HOUSE. Relationships with family and friends may undergo a difficult period during this cycle, and must be monitored carefully. Be aware that Saturn only enters this position every thirty years, and be prepared to act accordingly to preserve relationships.

SATURN IN EIGHTH HOUSE. Delays will be experienced in the realm of finances, and you may not receive money that you were expecting as quickly as you had originally expected.

SATURN IN NINTH HOUSE. This cycle will see an increased interest in the spiritual side of things, resulting in a change in your outlook on life

SATURN IN TENTH HOUSE. Pressure from events in your external world will force you to make decisions you have not considered before this period. There is potential for a great deal of progress, as long as you consider all aspects carefully.

URANUS

Uranus is regarded as the “Planet of Philanthropy.” It has influence over unconventional aspects of your life, as well as disorder and change.

URANUS IN FIRST HOUSE. As Uranus enters the 1st House, sudden changes may be experienced, bringing about a significant change in your personal life. New habits will replace old ones, and new friends will enter your life.

URANUS IN SECOND HOUSE. This period brings external events beyond your control within the financial realm, and will result in unexpected changes in your material world. It will pay to go slowly during this cycle, as moving too quickly may work against you.

URANUS IN THIRD HOUSE. Change is especially pronounced during this period, including changes in your field of interests and outlook on life. You will be attracted by people and subjects outside the realm of the normal.

URANUS IN FOURTH HOUSE. Uranus enters the 4th House once every 84 years, and when it does, it causes significant and widespread changes. These changes will be so far out of your control, you will have no choice but to watch and wait for the cycle to pass.

URANUS IN FIFTH HOUSE. The unconventional aspect of Uranus is felt in this period, especially in the nature of the people you meet. Be on the lookout for an opportunity arising from a creative pursuit that may provide you with a new source of abundance.

URANUS IN SIXTH HOUSE. This period is marked by mundane and uninteresting work, leading you to long for a radical change to bring some variety into your life. Don't be surprised when others don't share your feelings, preferring to maintain the status quo.

URANUS IN SEVENTH HOUSE. Your emotional life will undergo a series of changes during this period. Relationships that are already on fragile foundations may not survive the changes, but others will be able to weather the storm.

URANUS IN EIGHTH HOUSE. The financial realm will be especially vulnerable during this cycle. Exercise extreme caution at this time – no movement will be preferable to a wrong movement. You may find that your interest in the psychic world increases again.

URANUS IN NINTH HOUSE. New opportunities will present themselves at this time, including the chance to travel to some interesting locations. As a result, your overall philosophy may be modified, allowing you to broaden your horizons.

URANUS IN TENTH HOUSE. Changes brought on by the influence of Uranus will be experienced in your career, and may even result in you considering a new direction altogether. Although you will be tempted to bring about this change quickly, be sure you examine any new opportunities from as many different aspects as possible.

URANUS IN ELEVENTH HOUSE. The unconventional nature of Uranus' influence will be seen in the appearance of new people in your life. Your interest in performing charitable work may be engaged through joining a group dedicated to humanitarian principles.

URANUS IN TWELFTH HOUSE. This period will bring an interest in something you would rather keep to yourself. As a result, you may be perceived as being overly secretive by others. You will need to maintain a strong ethical approach to avoid any unpleasant outcomes.

ASTROLOGICAL COMPATIBILITY

For countless centuries, astrology has been used to gain glimpses of the future and greater understanding of ourselves and our relationships with others. One area that astrology can be especially helpful in is determining how compatible you will be with others. In order to do this, you will need to know the Sun sign of the other person. Once you know this, you may use one of two methods for determining compatibility.

Method #1: Sun Sign Types

The first method is based on the four Sun sign types: Fire, Earth, Air and Water.

The Fire signs are: Aries, Leo and Sagittarius
 The Earth signs are: Taurus, Virgo and Capricorn
 The Air signs are: Gemini, Libra and Aquarius
 The Water signs are: Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces

As a rule, you will be fairly compatible with someone from the same element as you. For example, if you are an Aries, you will usually do well with a Leo since you are both Fire signs. The same compatibility will be found with two people who are a Gemini and an Aquarius, since both are Air signs.

As you may imagine, however, not all signs are compatible. Take for example, Leo and Scorpio, two signs that are Fire and Water types, respectively. Picture the combination of fire and water. If you pour water on fire, the fire will be extinguished. Try reversing the two elements by placing fire under water, and you'll see that the outcome will be boiling water – not a good basis for a relationship!

Imagine what happens when you combine Air and Water signs - bubbles that either burst or float away. This doesn't sound like the kind of relationship that will last for very long.

A similar situation can result from the combination of Air and Earth, which will result in clouds of dust – a situation where communication may be difficult.

How about Gemini and Leo, two signs that belong to the Air and Fire groups? Fire thrives on – and requires – Air, making it a good combination.

Water and Earth signs will also do well together as a rule. Water, in the proper proportion, can soften Earth, and Earth can make Water more substantial.

Method #2: Sun Sign Compatibility Chart

Comparing the Sun sign types is a quick and easy way to judge the compatibility of two people. If you want a more accurate method, use the chart below.

First, locate your sign in the list running down the left-hand side of the chart. Then find the Sun sign of the other person in the list running across the top of the chart. Find the point at which the two signs intersect, note the number, and then look up the number in the index for an idea of how well the two signs will get along.

ASTROLOGICAL TRENDS

While it is helpful to draw up your horoscope for a specific day (as explained in the Starguide section), sometimes when you are going through a rough period you may want to get a more general outlook to find out when things will start to turn around. For this, you will want to use the Astrological Trends chart to gain some insight into the different cycles we all go through.

Professional astrologers often use the concept of “progressing a chart”, and apply the measure of “one day for each year.” For example, if your 35th birthday were today, your astrology chart would indicate that every planet has moved forward 35 days from the position they were originally at on the day you were born.

The ASTROLOGICAL TREND BIRTH CHART has every day of the year listed in 36 columns, and each column represents 10 years. Let’s take the example of someone that was born on July 7th and has just turned 53 years of age. For this example, let’s call the person John. By following the steps below, you will be able to identify the predominant astrological trends for John.

Begin by finding John’s birth date - July 7th - in the Astrological Trend Birth Chart. You’ll find it about half-way down Column 19. Starting on the date of John’s birth - in this case 7 - count down to the bottom of the column. You should end up counting six and end up on the square with the 12 in it. The number six represents the first six years of young John’s life. John moved into Column 20 when he turned 7.

To arrive at John’s current age of 53 count an additional forty years. Counting each column as ten years takes you through Columns 21, 22, 23 and 24. At the head of Column 24, John is 47. Count down an additional six years to bring John to his present age of 53. You should be at the square with the 29 in it.

Turn to the Astrological Trends Descriptions section, and look up the description that corresponds to 29. As you can see, John is presently in a stage of adaptability and cooperation with others. It is a pleasant stage, though the person may have to compromise more than expected.

Notice that some of the columns, like Column 16, are actually two columns. The first of these columns contains the last two days of May, and the second column contains the first ten days of June. If the person was born in an earlier column you would regard column 16 as being a single column marking ten years of time, even though it may appear to be two columns. If you were born on May 30th you would remain in this column for ten years, exactly the same as someone born on June 1st.

Although the first few birth dates you try may seem a little awkward, you’ll find that you will get quicker the more you practice.

Here are the steps to find the stage anyone is currently at:

- 1) Find the person’s date of birth on the Astrological Trend Birth Chart.
- 2) Count down to the bottom of the column (starting with the square the birth date is in) to find the age the first astrological change occurred at.
- 3) Count forward to the current age, using each column to represent ten years of life.
- 4) Turn to the Astrological Trends Descriptions section, and look up the description that corresponds to the number in the square you wound up on.

The interesting thing about this method of identifying astrological stages in a person’s life is that you can use it for more than just the current stage. Using this method, you can look at the conditions of a person’s childhood, or any time in the future as well.

Incidentally, these thirty-six stages are called decanates. Each sign of the zodiac occupies thirty degrees (12 signs of the zodiac x 30 degrees = 360 degrees.), and each sign can be divided into three smaller areas of ten degrees each hence the name ‘decanate’.
